Hoffa Lawyers File Motion for Mistrial

By GAVIN SCOTT
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa's attorneys said today they would file formal notice for a mistrial as a result of the air pistol attack Wednesday on the Teamsters Union president.

The defense gave notice of its intention as the $1 million conspiracy trial resumed in a subdued atmosphere before a security-conscious U.S. district judge. U.S. marshals guarded entrances to the courtroom.

Daniel Maher, a Hoffa attorney, sought to move for a mistrial but Judge William E. Miller told him to put the motion in writing and submit it to the clerk. Miller said he would give it consideration but did not want to waste time hearing defense arguments.

Hoffa said he suffered no ill effects from the pellets, which bounced off his body.

A government attorney announced that he had a motion, not connected with the shooting incident, which he wanted to make with the press and spectators out of the courtroom. Over defense objections, Miller ordered the courtroom cleared and deputy marshals placed newspapers over the glass panels in the courtroom doors.

The shots were fired at Hoffa Wednesday by a man identified as Warren Swanson, 28, of Washington, D.C. Hoffa ducked, then lunged at the man, knocking him to the floor.

Swanson required 14 stitches to repair head wounds. A deputy U. S. marshal struck him on the back of the head with a pistol and a Hoffa bodyguard got in a few kicks before the bleeding man was led from court in handcuffs.

U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller ordered Swanson committed to the medical center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo., for observation.

Miller ordered six additional armed marshals for courtroom duty and directed that henceforth everyone entering the court be searched.

Hoffa, 49, is accused of conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting undercover payments from a transport firm in return for labor peace. The trial is in its seventh week.

The jury was out of the courtroom when the incident occurred. Miller ordered the jurors locked up overnight for the first time during the trial to prevent their hearing about it.

While Swanson underwent emergency treatment at a hospital, he told newsmen he came here to kill Hoffa—a man he had never met—because of a vision he had last month.

"It sounds crazy, but I just got a message from a higher power," he said. He said the "message" came as he read the Bible in a Cincinnati, Ohio hotel room in August.

A voice told me—"You have to kill Jimmy Hoffa"—it said it twice," he said.

The attack on Hoffa came a year to the day after Swanson voluntarily entered the Camarillo State Hospital in Southern California for observation.

He was discharged Jan. 10 with the notation, "improved."

Proper Way to Treat Burns

Today's 7th Grade Medical Self Help Class heard Mrs. Inez Turner, Local Public Health Nurse, explain the different types of burns, depending upon cause. Mrs. Turner also explained the proper way to treat burns, according to depth. She emphasized prevention of infection in the treatment of burns under austere conditions that prevail during times of disaster.

Pictured are Cynthia Trout and Carroll Patton demonstrating the correct way to dress a burn where body surfaces have a tendency to grow together — like between fingers, toes and behind the ears.

Rice Acreage Increase Requested

WASHINGTON (AP)—A further increase in the national rice acreage the White House decided today by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

Fulbright noted in a letter to President Kennedy that a year ago the White House decided to increase rice acreages by 10 per cent and that this decision had proved to be wise.

"I have been informed by authoritative sources in the industry," Fulbright wrote, "that there is a definite need for even more rice than was produced on this year's expanded acreage."

"In making a decision on the size of the 1963 rice acreage allotment I respectfully urge you to consider carefully the fact that in the areas of current international crisis, India and Cuba are the basic food item."

"In the event of a continuation, or an enlargement, of the India-Rice China conflict it is quite likely that the Indian government will require additional rice supplies from the United States."

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee commented that re-establishment of a friendly government in Cuba probably would bring about demands on this country's rice supplies which would exceed production capacity under the present acreage allotment.

Fulbright said he hoped the President also would consider the need for rice in any food stockpiling program which might be undertaken by the federal government.

UN Takes Heart From Soviet Offer

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. delegates took heart today from two U.S.-Soviet agreements on scientific cooperation in a series of space experiments and on the general economic benefits of disarmament.

Delegates expressed guarded hope that the two agreements, together with the easing of the Cuban crisis, signaled a period of comparative harmony in East-West relations.

At Geneva, however, disarmament negotiators were deadlocked as tight as ever on the key issue of controls.

In short, the Soviets and the West were agreed on the great benefits disarmament would bring, but they were no nearer agreement on disarmament itself.

Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate at the United Nations, hailed the limited agreement on cooperation in space as a "practical demonstration that our nations can, despite political differences, cooperate in a highly important field of human endeavor."

The fruit of a broad agreement between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev early in the year, it provides for scientists of the two nations to work together in the use of earth satellites in communications, weather forecasting and mapping of the earth's magnetic field.

The agreement was worked out in summary at Geneva last June by Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and Soviet academician Anatoly A. Blagonravov.

Secretary-General U Thant and the 110-nation political committee were given the details Wednesday.

In 1964-65 the two nations will coordinate the launching of weather satellites after working out methods of exchanging information gained from experiments this year and next.

In 1964-65, called the international year of the quietest, each nation will launch a satellite to map the magnetic field.

Next year, they also will cooperate in experiments with the U.S. communications satellite Echo A12.

In the second agreement announced Wednesday, a joint U.S.-Soviet declaration said world disarmament would be of multi-billion-dollar benefit to lesser developed nations and would not hurt the economy of any nation.

Marlar Gets 5 Years, Life Sentences

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Jerrell K. Marlar, 32, of Rosston, Ark., was given consecutive sentences Wednesday of five years and life imprisonment on charges of jail break and first degree murder.

He was sentenced by Miller Circuit Judge Lyle Brown, but had been convicted in Lafayette Circuit Court following a change of venue. Marlar had pleaded guilty to both charges.

He was accused of the murder last May of Thomas O. Bond of Bossier City, La., a former employee of the Louisiana State Highway Department. Marlar and two other prisoners escaped from the Miller County jail last August after using a bar of soap wrapped in a sock to beat a jailer, police said.

Leslie Melvin Simmons of Oregon and Charles Easley of Fouke, Ark., were previously sentenced to three years each for their part in the escape. Marlar was given an extra two years in prison at that time because, Judge Brown said, he had escaped in 1954 from the Nevada County jail.

Welda Lee Derr, a co-defendant in the murder case, has entered a plea of innocent. She has not been tried yet.

Louisiana authorities have charged Marlar with kidnapping Bond and bringing him to Miller County. He was found dead in a ditch alongside the road near Fouke, Ark. after Marlar and the Derr woman were arrested, officers said at the time of his arraignment of the two.

Marlar at first pleaded innocent to both charges he was sentenced on Wednesday, and the state asked for the death penalty. He changed his plea to guilty following the change of venue, and the state asked the jury to recommend the life term on the murder charge.

Marlar said Wednesday he wanted to withdraw his plea of guilty on the escape charge but Brown denied the request.

Company C Would Go to Conway

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Company C of the 489th Engineer Battalion of Little Rock would be moved to Conway in the announced Army Reserve and National Guard reorganization, Lt. Col. Herman Pringle, commander of the unit, said Wednesday.

Conway already has a construction support company of the 806th Engineers Battalion. Both the 489th and 806th are Reserve units.

"We feel Conway can't adequately support two units," Pringle said, "so we hope Company C will be retained in Little Rock."

Details of movement of units have been withheld by the Pentagon.

Sights Soviet Ship Carrying Out Bombers

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Russian ship carrying about 15 IL-28 bombers has been sighted outward bound from Cuba, it was learned today.

This brings to at least 18 the number of the nuclear-capable bombers the Russians have withdrawn from Cuba on the demand of the United States.

Last Monday, the Defense Department announced that the Soviet ship Okhotsk had been photographed with three IL-28 fuselages on the deck. The Pentagon released pictures showing the three plane bodies. The pictures were taken by U.S. naval patrol bombers assigned to watching for the withdrawal of the nuclear-capable bombers.

Russian diplomatic authorities were understood to have notified the United States that a total of more than 40 of the 750-mile range bombers would be coming out.

And informed sources said the removal is at a pace that could have all the bombers off the island within a few days.

At the White House, the general situation was under review at a meeting this morning of the executive committee of the National Security Council.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and John J. McCloy, Cuban policy coordinator, came to Washington for the meeting.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy had decided to call the meeting Wednesday night, but insisted it was not prompted by any specific development.

Salinger said the subject up for discussion was the continuing talks with Soviet representatives in New York on the Cuban situation.

Informants said the Soviets have taken a hard stand in New York negotiations against forcing Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to accept international inspection which President Kennedy seeks to make certain Cuba stays free of atomic weapons.

The United States appears prepared to continue aerial surveillance as a safeguard and let the diplomatic contest melt into the background — perhaps with a statement by each side explaining its position to the U.N. Security Council.

This would set the stage for a Continued on Page Three

Lethal Smog Has Killed 67 in London

LONDON (AP)—A dense lethal smog settled down on London again tonight, with the death toll already 67 and another 738 victims of the sulphurous fumes in city hospitals.

The choking pall thickened with the early darkness for the fourth consecutive night.

A government weather bureau spokesman said: "It's a repeat performance of the previous nights—just as intense and thickening at the same time. The rest of the country is now comparatively clear, but there is no relief in sight for London and the lower Thames River areas until tomorrow, at the earliest."

Outside London, dozens of automobile accidents occurred on icy roads and another transportation freeze was predicted for England and Wales during the night hours.

A spokesman of the British Automobile Association said the number of smashed cars made some stretches of highways look like battlefields.

Air tests in central London showed the midday smoke content to be 24 times the average for a comparative December day. But worse still, the concentration of the combustion byproduct—sulphur dioxide—was seven times average. That was blamed for the bulk of the deaths.

Most of the victims were elderly or were already suffering from respiratory ailments when the pall descended. Some of them dropped dead on London streets. Others died soon after arrival in hospitals.

London commuter train schedules were in chaos. Thousands who normally travel by bus went to the subway stations as the smog immobilized or slowed to a halt the city's distinctive big red double-deckers.

By JOHN GALE
LONDON (AP)—Dawn brought the first cracks in London's huge smog curtain today but the weatherman warned that conditions may get worse again.

Visibility extended up to 100 yards along some of the capital's main streets, but dense pockets of fume-laden smog still clung to the banks of the River Thames.

Of the fog, an Air Ministry spokesman said, "Don't count your chickens. It might well come back tonight."

The dawn also brought an improvement in the fog across the country. Traffic still was idled along the east coast and in the northern county of Yorkshire, but many other areas had cleared.

London airport was closed for the third day.

More than 60 sudden deaths Tuesday and Wednesday were attributed to smog. The victims were mostly people with heart or chest complaints whose condition was aggravated by the sulphurous pall.

With smoke and sulphur dioxide in the air amounting to 10 and 14 times the normal content, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday things were as bad as in 1952, when a killer smog caused at least 4,000 deaths.

The forecasters had predicted no lull, and 200 hospitals were alerted for a major disaster. Nearly 400 beds were taken Wednesday night by emergency cases.

A London County Council official said hundreds of people who were due to go into hospital for operations were told to stay at home.

"They could afford to wait, he said. 'Smog victims cannot.'"

Red Leader Now Takes Soft Line

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht joined an East bloc switch to a soft line on Berlin today, dropping his usual threats and calling for compromise.

In a speech at Cottbus last week, published today in the Communist party paper Neues Deutschland, Ulbricht called for a flexible policy of negotiation, leading to normalization of relations between the two German states." He said "the living together of the people of the two German states would be made possible" thereby.

Last week, Wladyslaw Gomulka the Polish Communist leader, also pointedly omitted from a speech the usual demands for the treaty and withdrawal of Western troops from Berlin.

Chicken and Eggs Good Market Buys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eggs, cheese and chicken offer housewives an answer to their protein problem in these days when they're trying to stretch the food budget to make up for holiday feast deficits.

Egg prices are generally low over the nation and there are a variety of cheese and dairy features at reasonable prices. Broiler-fryers are widely high-lighted among poultry items. Turkey prices are also down, having hit levels some places as low as have been reached since the war. Pork is the star among red meats in many places. Beef bargains this weekend include, in many stores over the nation, short ribs, round steaks, stew beef, ground beef and blade-cut chuck roasts. Among vegetables, dry beans are in good supply as a good nutrition budget stretcher. Texas cabbage is flowing into market-places. Florida radishes are in good supply. Vegetables highlighted regionally include squash, green peppers, eggplant, green beans, celery, cauliflower, rutabagas, turnips

State Auditor Paroled After Six Years

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner granted a sentence reduction today to former State Auditor Orville Hodge, who has served more than six years in prison for "stealing" $1.5 million from the state treasury.

The effect of the commutation is to make Hodge eligible for parole in the near future. Parole authorities said Hodge probably would appear at the next scheduled board hearing Jan. 9.

Without a commutation of his 12- to 15-year term, Hodge could not have applied for parole until November 1963.

Kerner said his decision was based solely on Hodge's health. Attorneys for Hodge have said he is suffering from an ulcer, a kidney ailment, tension and nervous depression.

The governor, a Democrat, said the commutation reduces his wait for parole eligibility by less than a year, but all information reaching me indicates this period looms large for the health of Mr. Hodge.

Kerner previously had turned down two other petitions by Hodge, a Republican, for a pardon or parole.

When to Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

AP All Star Grid Team Is Announced

By BOB HOOBIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Fabulous Terry Baker, Jerry Stovall, George Mira and George Saines, responsible for a combined total offense of over 5,000 yards this season—comprise the backfield of the 1962 Associated Press All-America Football team announced today.

Baker, an honor student in mechanical engineering at Oregon State, was named Heisman Trophy winner as the outstanding player of the year and was the top National Football League draft pick.

In all, six members of the All-America were first round NFL selections, including the versatile Stovall from Louisiana State, ends Pat Richter of Wisconsin and Dave Robinson of Penn State, center Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama and Purdue tackle Don Brumm. Mira, the pass master of Miami, Fla., and fullback Saines from Michigan State are joined by Damon Bame, fierce guard and linebacker from Southern California's national champions, tackle Bobby's Bell of Minnesota and guard Johnny Treadwell, heart of unbeaten Texas' defense.

Bame and Mira are juniors, the rest seniors.

An unusual feature of the line which averaged 212 pounds per man—20 pounds less than last year's All-America forward wall—is that the most weight is packed into the end position. Richter is a 230-pounder who guarded a flank for the nation's No. 2 power, Robinson goes 222.

The fast, hard-hitting aggregation was picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sports writers and broadcasters who took into account all games through Dec. 1.

Only one man in collegiate history ever cranked out more career total offense yardage than the left-handed passing Baker, whose 2,276 output this fall gave him 4,980 for his three varsity seasons.

Johnny Bright of Drake set the mark of 5,903 a dozen years ago. Baker was a Portland, Ore., high school teammate of halfback Mel Renfro, the brilliant University of Oregon star who landed a second team All-America berth. Mississippi's Glynn Griffing, Billy lar Eldon Portie of Brigham Young were other second team backs.

The line has ends Hugh Campbell of Washington State and Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky, tackles Art Gregory of Duke and Ray Schoenke of Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech's Rufus Guthrie and Oklahoma's Leon Cross at guards, with Don McKinnon of Dartmouth at center.

The third team:

ENDS — Conrad Hitchler, Missouri, and Hal Bedsole, Southern California.

TACKLES — Tom Nomina, Miami of Ohio, and Fred Miller, Louisiana State.

GUARDS — Jack Cvercko, Northwestern, and Gene McDowell, Florida State.

CENTER — Ray Mansfield, Washington.

BACKS — Jerry Yost, West Virginia; Darryle Lamonica, Notre Dame; Bobby Santiago, New Mexico; Dave Hoppmann, Iowa State.

Cincinnati Takes First in Cage Poll

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
It wasn't supposed to be like this at all.

This was supposed to be the year that Ohio State was from nowhere and at last—Cincinnati moved out of the Buckeye shadow and into its rightful spot in the college basketball picture.

But, like an aging star who is loathe to leave, the Buckeyes just won't give up the ghost.

They took their third straight Wednesday night, beating Virginia 70-46 and keeping pace with top-ranked Cincinnati, which rolled over Miami of Ohio 58-36, the Bearcats' third of the season and 21st victory in a row.

The Bearcats were the only member of the Top Ten in action Wednesday. In some of the other major results, Texas put on its best defensive showing in more than 10 years in subduing East Texas State 71-38 and Nick Werkman, the nation's third leading scorer last season, scored 37 points in leading Seton Hall to a 90-70 conquest of St. Anselm's of New Hampshire.

California beat St. Mary's of California 77-63, Tennessee won from Xavier of Ohio 63-48, Oklahoma State crushed Montana 65-47 and North Carolina used a huge edge in rebounding to beat Clemson 64-48.

Two years in a row Ohio State had been picked as the nation's best and led every weekly poll—up until the NCAA title game. Twice they lost the national title to Cincinnati.

This then, said the critics, should be the year Ohio State falls from favor and Cincinnati takes over. It looked that way in the early voting this season, too, with Cincinnati ranked No. 1 and Ohio State out of the Top Ten.

The Cavaliers stayed close in the early going but Ohio State pulled away from a 22-21 lead to a 30-22 advantage at the half. They increased the margin steadily throughout the last half.

There 22-point final margin over Virginia, however, was much less than the 91-42 drubbing Cincinnati administered the same team earlier this week.

Penn set a school scoring record in a 101-57 rout of Rutgers and St. Joseph's held off Hofstra 70-44 in a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia.

The Bearcats Finally Made It

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took two long years and a couple of national titles to do it, but the Cincinnati Bearcats finally reached the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press regular season weekly basketball poll.

The veteran Bearcats were an overwhelming choice for the top spot in the first weekly poll Wednesday, gaining 38 first place votes on the 44 ballots cast by more than 100 points.

Strangely, it was the first time in three years Cincinnati had topped the poll, though the school won the NCAA title the last two seasons. Ohio State led each week for the last two seasons, only to fall before the Bearcats twice in the NCAA finals.

Only three other teams received first place votes. Duke got three, West Virginia two and Texas one. The Duke Blue Devils edged West Virginia for second place, 307 points to 281.

Kentucky, ranked third in the pre-season poll behind Cincinnati and Duke fell to ninth after suffering an upset at the hands of ambitious Virginia Tech, 80-77, in its opening game.

Wichita in that order.

Another Taft Appears on U.S. Scene

by HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Back in 1876 Alphonso Taft was appointed to the Cabinet of President U.S. Grant. Since then, except for a few years, a Taft has been a prominent figure in the federal government — executive, judicial or legislative.

Next January, another Taft will appear on the national scene. He is Robert Taft Jr., elected in November as congressman-at-large from Ohio.

Young Bob is the son of the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, three times an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for president but who became known as Mr. Republican.

He is the grandson of William Howard Taft who served one term as president, was a U.S. circuit judge, civil governor of the Philippines, and chief justice of the United States.

He is the great-grandson of Alphonso Taft, who served as an ambassador in addition to having been a member of Grant's Cabinet.

Young Bob, 45, served four two-year terms in the Ohio House of Representatives.

His thinking on many political issues such as spending, taxation and foreign policy is close to that of his father.

I have never tried to pattern myself after my father," he said. After all, 10 years have passed and we have to think of the particular time."

Negro Defeated at Camden

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—The Rev. R. J. Hampton, a Negro Methodist minister, was defeated Tuesday in his race for a Camden School Board seat.

Dick Sutherland, an insurance man, won the election 1,506 votes to 458. Sutherland and Hampton were competing for an open job on the board.

There has been talk that Taft might seek in 1964 the U.S. senatorial seat now held by Stephen Young, a Democrat.

He says he is a firm believer that federal expenditures should be reduced except in the fields of defense and space age development. He does not favor tax cuts without a reduction in expenses.

He urges an across-the-board reduction in government personnel.

As for the United Nations, he says: I mistrust the U.N. as a major determining factor in our foreign policy, although I believe we should work through the U.N. to maintain contact with other nations. I mistrust the present administration's disarmament policy.

When the new congressman goes to Washington he will join his brother, William H. Taft III, an Ambassador to Ireland, who is now assigned to the U.S. Information Agency's selection agency to screen personnel for promotion.

Young Bob and Mrs. Taft, a former New Yorker, have four children. Robert II is a senior at Yale; Sarah Butler, 19, is a sophomore at Radcliffe; Deborah, 16, is a junior at Concord Academy in Concord, Mass. The youngest child, Jonathan, 8, will accompany his parents to Washington.

Quick Tabasco Pizza Fondue

During the festive holiday season friends are liable to drop in most anytime to exchange greetings and gifts. It's easy to say, "Do stay on for supper!" when you've a simple recipe like Quick Pizza Fondue at your fingertips. A chafing dish of this tasty cheese fondue provides fun for young and old as they dip forkfuls of French bread cubes into the piping hot mixture.

All that's required are canned stewed tomatoes, process cheese, salt and the zesty spice of Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning. Diced green pepper completes the holiday color scheme.

Quick Pizza Fondue

- 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 pound process cheese, grated
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper

In heavy saucepan, combine tomatoes, Tabasco and salt. Place over low heat and bring to a boil; simmer 5 minutes to blend flavors. Stir in grated cheese and cook about a minute or until melted. Pour into chafing dish or one that can be kept hot and garnish with diced green pepper. Serve with French bread. YIELD: 2 1/2 cups.

Word of a Man Has to Be His Bond

By HAL BOYLE

NE-AQFV K (AP)—A man's word is his bond.

For a long, long time I had been promising my wife, Frances, that on our silver wedding anniversary, I would bring her breakfast in bed.

So when the great day finally came, I leaned above her by the dawn's early light, and tenderly asked: "What'll you have, dear?"

"Just orange juice, toast, scrambled eggs and bacon and tea," she murmured sleepily.

"Well, then, get up and fix it!" I told her.

"But all these years you promised you'd serve me breakfast in bed on our 25th anniversary," protested Frances. "Some years that prospect is about all that kept me going."

"I do intend to serve you breakfast in bed. But first you have to get up and cook it, don't you?"

But she padded out to the kitchen, fixed breakfast, then climbed back into bed, and I served it to her—according to plan.

Then, as married people do on such occasions, we fell to reminiscing about the past.

Frances remembered everything about our wedding at the "Little Church Around the Corner" here in 1937—who was there, what she wore, what I wore, who said what to whom.

All I could recall about the ceremony was that—my bride brought me only a dowry of $100—we either had to forego having the candles at the altar lit, $2, or the organ music—was it $5 or $10?

"Our wedding dinner was spaghetti, meat sauce and a bottle of wine," said Frances. "It cost $2. I remember I had to lend you the money."

"And the bedstead in that quaint little hotel in Greenwich Village you brought me home to didn't even have legs. It was supported by four stacks of bricks."

Discussing our quarter century of marital experience, I asked my wife:

"What do you think now are the hardest years of marriage?"

"The first 25," she replied promptly, then added fervently, "I hope!"

The years shows more on me than on her. I have grown fat and partly bald from weathering a depression, two wars and recessions.

But my wife, who had a streak of premature gray in her hair at marriage, now shows no sign of silver threads among the gold.

Some years back her hair suddenly turned blonde and youthful looking overnight, an occurrence which is still known to other dwellers on our apartment house floor as "The miracle in Apartment 8-F."

Sees State Need For Kindergarten

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Education Commissioner Arch W. Ford said Tuesday the state should be planning kindergarten classes to meet the demand of industrialization.

Ford said the first step would be a constitutional amendment to make it legal for the state to carry out such a program.

Requests for a kindergarten program are being received mainly from young working mothers, he said, especially in industrialized sections.

There is no urgency for such a program, he said, but the state should prepare now.

Few areas in the world have a greater range of plant species as the Crowley's Ridge area of Arkansas.

DOROTHY DIX

Old Sweetheart and Mother Are Threat

OLD SWEETHEART AND HER MOTHER POSE A THREAT

Dear Helen: Men aren't the only chasers. Right now our happy home is being menaced by a Navy gal who is closing in on my husband like a young tigress stalking a terrified antelope.

The girl was introduced to me as one of my husband's old flames when we were on our honeymoon. I laughed and even teased him a little for the girl was nothing to write home about. He countered by saying her mother had promoted the romance — if you could call it that.

When he married me the mother flew into a tizzy so I didn't get asked to her home. The girl signed up with a national organization which involved much traveling and I thought with a feeling of thankfulness, for somehow I sensed trouble. Well, that's the end of her," but I under-estimated her mother.

Next time we were in her city she invited us to Sunday night buffet supper. Frankly, neither of us wanted to go but couldn't think of an excuse so went. The mother acted coolly civil to me, warmly affectionate to my husband. During the course of the evening she remarked that her daughter had been transferred to a small town near the one where we lived. My husband, good-hearted soul that he is, said, "Tell Nell (this isn't her real name) to visit us sometime."

Well, we'd no sooner got home than Nell phoned and asked for my husband, completely ignoring me. After the conversation he hung up, looking sheepish.

Recently my husband had to make a business trip to the city where Nell is based. He'd no sooner checked in at the hotel than Nell phoned. He's a big-hearted Joe, nice to everybody so from his own account of the episode, he was pleasant enough to her and even a little remorseful at having treated her so coolly in our home for he invited her to come see us," when next in our city.

I do think he should have considered my feelings for I just don't like the girl, consider her a nuisance and would be happy if we never met again. How can I handle this situation with firmness and dignity? —Ruffled Wife

Dear Ruffled: Treat Nell, the nuisance, like a long lost sister, if you would keep your husband within the fold. Take a tip from politics. Candidates are elected on a protest vote. Build up enough opposition to Nell and you'll find your man championing her cause. But, no matter how friendly she and her mother may seem, remain on your guard for their type — being predatory — never give up.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "The Ideal Wife."

Dear Helen: My 18-year-old daughter is keeping steady company with a 20-year-old boy. They have known each other since grade school. For her recent birthday he gave her a plaid skirt. Is it proper for him to give clothing and for her to accept it? —Anxious Mother

Dear Anxious: Strictly speaking, personal gifts, particularly wearing apparel, are taboo unless the couple concerned are engaged and even then, it's a questionable practice. However, don't hurt the boy's feelings by forcing your daughter to return the skirt. But do have a frank talk with him and say from now on, limit his giving to impersonal presents like books, candy or records.

Rights Restored to Lauderdale

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Full civil and political rights were restored Monday to E. A. Lauderdale of Little Rock by order of Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Lauderdale was one of the men convicted in the Labor Day 1958 bombings at Little Rock that stemmed from school desegregation.

A Pulaski County Circuit Court sentenced Lauderdale to three years in prison in 1961 and fined him $500.

Faubus later reduced the term to one year and set aside the fine. On the same day, Sept. 13, 1961, Lauderdale, owner of a roofing firm, was released on parole.

A black bear, weighing 700 pounds, was shot on Rich Mountain, in Polk County, near Mena, as late as 1937.

Development of Rural Area Seen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The development of rural Arkansas served as a guide in developing the national Rural Electrification Administration program, directors of the Arkansas State Electric Cooperative, Inc., were told Monday.

Norman M. Clapp, administrator of the REA, told directors at their 155th annual meeting, "As pioneers in economic development of rural areas long before there was any national rural area development program, you can serve as our best critics and at the same time provide pragmatic evidence that the job can be done."

He added, "your record has served as a much needed guide to us in the national rural areas development effort."

The basis of the REA's rural development program (RAD), he said, is sound evidence that the trend of declining opportunities to earn a living on America's farms will not reverse itself. The program is also based, he said, on increased productivity per acre of farmland and on the lack of opportunity for young people in rural areas.

"REA is charged with the responsibility of assisting borrowers so they can repay their loans and be financially strong enough to carry out the objectives of this legislation," he said.

"These objectives would be endangered by the dry rot of ever lower incomes and smaller populations in the areas served by REA borrowers," he added.

The REA was practical enough, he said, to realize that "it would be shortsighted to finance and build rural electric facilities and then let them go unused because rural people could not pay cash for the wiring, appliances and equipment which they would need to put electricity to work."

The first step in meeting this obligation, he said, was to establish the Rural Areas Development staff to assist REA borrowers in the economic development of the areas they serve.

The REA's Section 5, or consumer loan, policies were also modified and clarified.

"The charge has been made that we are making these section 5 loans in competition with private financing," he said. "This is nonsense, absolute nonsense."

Earlier Jerry Voorhis, executive director of the Co-operative League of the U.S.A., told directors the co-operative system in the United States is in the second and most difficult stage of its evolutionary development.

Voorhis said the first stage is tolerance, when the co-operatives are ignored because they are not considered important. The second is conflict, when they develop to the point they threaten the existing order of things and the third is acceptance.

Adlai Says He Approved Blockade

NEW YORK (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said today that he had approved of the naval blockade of Cuba at least three days before the government decided to impose it.

Reiterating his denial that he had opposed the blockade, Stevenson said he had approved of it "today" show: "I was emphatically in favor of it."

Stevenson previously had denounced as inaccurate a Saturday Evening Post article, co-authored by a close friend of President Kennedy, that portrayed Stevenson as having urged a soft line in "today" show: "I was emphatically in favor of it."

He asserted today the article was "fallacious from beginning to end, in every detail."

Asked if he had been asked to resign his U.N. post, Stevenson replied: "On the contrary."

He did not elaborate.

Stevenson said that despite his support of the blockade, he hoped that the time has not come in the United States when it is felt disputes should be settled by war rather than peaceful means.

"If that time comes, the world is doomed," he added.

Stevenson was asked if he expected President Kennedy to come forward in his support.

"I have had no discussion with him about it. I don't know what he is going to do, if anything," Stevenson replied.

He went on to say that President Kennedy "has and will have my views with candor and confidence."

Charged With Aiding Escape

NOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Nolan A. Stewart of Lonsdale was charged Tuesday with aiding an escape by slipping a hacksaw blade to a prisoner in Garland County jail.

Police said Mrs. Stewart, wife of Billy Joe Stewart who is serving a sentence for burglary, gave the hacksaw to Eugene Hull, another prisoner.

The men sawed out bars of the jail and were about to escape when a phone call from an anonymous person tipped their plans, officers said.

spawned on that date and it is conceivable that without that event it would still be a mountain retreat for boys instead of a bustling city of 13,500 persons busily engaged in superspeed nuclear experiments.

The President has never been to Los Alamos. He will find a community that is spread across the Pajarito Plateau—a series of finger mesas created by long-ago, extinct volcanoes—in the Jemez Mountains.

It sits almost atop a mountain at 7,300 feet. The only access is by airplane, helicopter or on a twisting, turning mountain road. The Hill City, as it is called by the natives, is 35 miles northwest of Santa Fe and 96 miles north of Albuquerque.

It has only been since February 1957 that the high, wire fence and the pistol-packing guards were removed. But a superspeed complex has remained with the city. Probably the sensitive nuclear work and the inaccessibility of the city have helped to develop this complex.

One of the main reasons for the President's coming to Los Alamos is to inspect the work being done to build a nuclear reactor to propel space ships into prolonged flights to the moon and the planets. The project is called Rover, which is a part of Nerva (nuclear engine for rocket vehicle application).

The Kiwi reactors, named after the flightless birds of New Zealand, are being developed as engines for the giant space ships.

Project Rover was set up in 1955 under the Atomic Energy Commission but has been taken over by the Space Nuclear Propulsion Office, a governmental agency staffed by personnel from the AEC and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The first planned use of Project Rover is the development of a nuclear third stage for the Saturn C5 manned lunar landing operation. With the nuclear third stage, a single vehicle would be all that would be needed for a landing and a return from the moon. Otherwise, a chemical-fueled rocket would require two-launch rendezvous of C5s or the development of a much larger chemical rocket.

The most important advantage of nuclear rockets is that they can use hydrogen as propellant. Hydrogen is more than a dozen times lighter, per particle, than the combustion products used to propel chemical rockets.

Rover reactors must generate great power on small fuel volume. To create the rather modest thrust of 50,000 pounds a reactor must produce about one million BTU per second, or enough energy to boil away a ton of water every two seconds.

State Gets Big Share of Public Works

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP) — of the first $144,000,000 of federal money allocated under the accelerated public works program, $1,66,000 went to Arkansas projects.

This is shown in a report by the Area Redevelopment Administration covering allocations to Nov. 30.

Arkansas' allocation, figuring 3.8 per cent of the total amount involved, puts the state among the lower 16 states in allocations.

Earlier this year authorized the $600 million program as an "emergency" measure against unemployment in distressed areas. It appropriated $400 million to get the program started.

The ARA report said the Commerce Department expected to send recommendations to President Kennedy shortly on the allocation of the remainder of the $400 million now available.

Congress is expected to appropriate another $500 million for the program early next year. There have been reports President Kennedy may ask that the $900 million authorization be doubled.

Additional Arkansas allocations thus can be expected.

Arkansas projects receiving allocations are in 22 counties and are designed to provide an estimated 1,988 man-months of work.

Government agencies making the allocations include the Public Health Service, for hospital facilities and sewage projects; Community Facilities Administration, for water and sewage facilities and public buildings; Agriculture Department, for forest improvement and recreation projects; Interior Department, for recreational facilities in national parks; Army Engineers, for small water projects; Bureau of Public Roads, for improvements to public land and forest highways.

The Arkansas allocations by counties, with the estimated man-months of employment to be provided in each county:

Baxter $19,000 and 60; Chicot $138,000 and 96; Conway $5,000 and 12; Crittenden $36,000 and 24; Drew $37,000 and 60; Franklin $57,000 and 120; Izard $34,000 and 36; Johnson $48,000 and 84; Lee $33,000 and 36; Madison $20,000 and 6; Marion $214,000 and 372; Montgomery $122,000 and 288; Newton $20,000 and 60; Perry $42,000 and 84; Phillips $13,000 and 120; Polk $92,000 and 144; Scott

$19,000 and 6; Searcy $6,000 and 24; Sevier $82,000 and 144; Stone $19,000 and 60; Van Buren $6,000 and 24; Wodruft $4,000 and 4.

Woman's place may be in the home but the number of employed women in Arkansas increased substantially in the decade between 1950 and 1960.

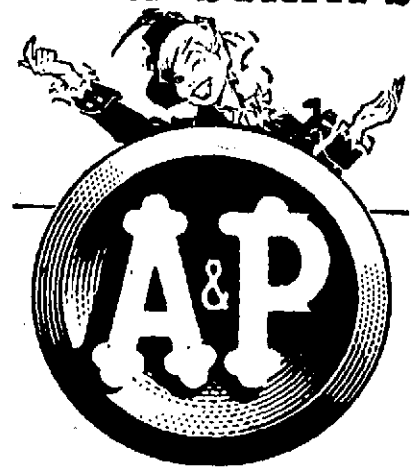

A Labor Department report shows that in 1950 a total of 142,415 Arkansas women over 14 were working but that in 1960 the number had climbed to 163,398, a gain of 29 per cent. The national gain was 35 per cent.

In 1950, according to the report, 22 per cent of all workers in Arkansas were women as against 30 per cent in 1960. Women workers in the state in 1950 totaled 21 per cent of the female population. By 1960 this was up to 29 per cent.

The report also showed: Of the total number of women workers in 1960 in the state, 1,315 were married.

The median income of women workers in Arkansas was $764 in 1959, compared with $444 in 1949.

A CHRISTMAS CAKE FROM ENGLAND

Time flies! Christmas is just around the corner and with it comes all the fun, excitement and traditional food to which everyone looks forward. The Christmas Cake is part of this custom throughout the Western World although each country has a different way of presenting it. Shown here is a typical English fruit cake you will enjoy making. Try to make it 3 or 4 weeks in advance to give it a chance to mellow. It is a rich cake full of fruits and nuts, topped with almond paste and snowy white icing. Christmas is a family time and in England everyone helps to ice the cake on Christmas Eve amidst the chaos of last minute present wrapping and the filling of traditional Christmas stockings.

ENGLISH CHRISTMAS CAKE
1 7 1/2-ounce package Dried fruit (chopped dates, raisins, currants, cherries, chopped)
1 8-ounce jar cubed pineapple
1 1-pound jar fruits and peels
1 8-ounce jar citron
2 cups seedless raisins
2 1/2 cups chopped pecans
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup brandy (optional)
1/2 cup rum (optional)
1/2 cup shortening
6 tablespoons butter
8 eggs
3/4 teaspoon baking soda
3/4 cup molasses
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/3 cup apricot preserves (optional)
2 10-ounce cans almond paste (optional)
5 cups your favorite white frosting (optional)

Use a large mixing bowl to combine the Dried fruit, chopped dates, raisins, currants, cherries, cubed pineapple, fruits and peels and citron with the raisins, pecans, flour, brandy and rum. Cream shortening and butter for three minutes. Add eggs and continue beating another three minutes. Add baking soda to the molasses. Add to egg mixture. Sift together the 1 1/2 cups flour with the 4 spices. Fold into the egg mixture. Add this mixture to the fruit mixture and mix carefully until well-blended. Put mixture into a greased 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in a slow oven (275°F) for 4 hours or until done. Cool in pan. Makes a 6-pound cake.

ICING: Spread a thin layer of apricot preserves over surface. Roll almond paste into 9-inch round to fit top of cake. Cover entire cake with white frosting, reserving 1 cup for decorating with rosette tube. Decorate with rosettes around edges and add holly leaves.

Canned Barbecue Beans Make Fall Treat

November is a spirited month. Thanksgiving approaches. And... it's usually the month during which the first fire of the winter is laid in the fireplace. In keeping with the warmth and cheerfulness of the indoors, are hearty, skillet suppers. Canned barbecue beans can turn a pork chop dish into a meal extraordinary. Three kinds of beans combined in a spicy tomato sauce blend their appealing taste and aroma with colorful, crisp apples and succulent pork chops.

Here is a main dish to captivate the entire family. A tossed green salad with your favorite dressing and pumpkin pie... there's a meal to make your family think you're the "great-est."

Canned barbecue beans come in handy, one pound cans, perfect to serve a family of four. Try this Fireside Skillet this week.

Fireside Skillet
4 pork chops (about 1 pound)
1 can (1 pound) barbecue beans
4 slices apple
1 tablespoon brown sugar
Dash ground cinnamon
Dash ground clove

In skillet, brown pork chops on both sides. Pour barbecue beans into shallow baking dish; top with pork chops. Place a slice of apple on each chop; sprinkle with sugar and spices. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 45 minutes, or until meat is tender. Makes 4 servings.

Faubus Is Against Guard Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus joined other state governors Tuesday in opposition to a proposed reorganization of the National Guard.

Details on the Arkansas phase of the reorganization were given to Faubus by Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance.

Faubus, in agreement with other members of the National Governor's Conference, refused to release details of the plan, but they were made available in Washington.

Guard units at Blytheville, Monticello, Walnut Ridge and Little Rock would be deactivated under the plan and dozens of others would be relocated.

Fordyce, Glenwood, Little Rock, Magnolia, Malvern, Nashville, Newport, Ozark, Paragould and Pine Bluff would lose units due to relocation. Arkadelphia, Blytheville, Camden, Conway, Fort Smith, Jonesboro, Monticello and Pine Bluff would gain units.

Faubus said the reorganization plan "smacks a little of arrogance as well as bad faith, arm-twisting, chicanery and whatever you want to call it."

He not only said Arkansas wouldn't go along with the plan, but criticized the way it had been handled by the government.

Gov. Albert D. Rossellini of Washington wired Faubus asking him to withhold an official decision on the proposals until the National Governors' Conference Advisory Committee on the National Guard could study the matter. Rossellini is president of the conference.

The message arrived just before Arkansas Adjutant Gen. Sherman T. Clinger delivered Vance's report to the governor.

Faubus wired Rossellini he concurred in the decision to call a meeting of the advisory committee and plot a course of action for all states. He said there should be further negotiation to obtain a plan generally satisfactory to all states.

The governor said he had understood the states "had an agreement with the Defense Department" to "submit a plan in advance and give us time to study it."

"Now they start announcing things from Washington," he added.

Faubus predicted an attempt by governors to negotiate with the defense Department on the proposal. Governors of all states were unanimous against the plan as presented, he said.

"I trust the authorities in Washington will have courtesy as well as common sense enough to talk with us," he added.

The governors, he said, had expected a piecemeal effort to get state by state approval of the proposal, then foresaw pressure being put on the other states which did not agree.

The government "has failed to show anyone the feasibility or propriety of a plan such as the one submitted," he said.

For this reason, he added, a resolution was adopted at the last meeting of the National Governor's Conference, calling on the states to act in concert on the proposal.

Faubus said he would send Clinger to Washington by Monday, the date the government seeks a decision from Arkansas. Arkansas now has about 9,400 Guardsmen, Clinger said. Of these, 1,200 are in the Air Guard and would not be affected by the reorganization.

About $10 million is spent by the federal government and $500,000 by the state to operate the guard annually in Arkansas, he said.

This is in addition to amounts of up to $500,000 a year spent on armories with 75 per cent federal participation.

"We reorganized the guard in 1959," Clinger said. "We had no major since then to test how the Guard would operate under that reorganization." He said he could not understand the need for the new proposal.

"The old type anti-aircraft guns would not be any use against today's planes," he said. "But they could take a unit with an obsolete weapon, increase or decrease its strength, give it a new weapon and let it continue to operate. After all, you've got to use the same men—all Americans."

Governors Ready to Fight Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors held their fire for the most part as the Pentagon unveiled its program designed to get more ready-to-go combat punch into fewer National Guard and Army Reserve units.

An outcry had been predicted by some. It still may come. But Tuesday's announcement by the Defense Department drew only a request by Gov. Albert D. Rossellini of Washington that his colleagues withhold approval of the National Guard proposals until after a Pentagon meeting with state adjutants general next Monday.

Rossellini, chairman of the National Governor's Conference, said he personally opposes abolition of National Guard units in his state. He urged other governors to wait until after a special committee of the conference looks into the matter after Monday's meeting.

The shakeup, in the works for eight months or more, will build reserve strength "far greater than anything we have known in the past," Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in announcing it.

The order goes into effect automatically for Army Reserve units. Approval by governors is needed for any changes in the National Guard during peacetime.

In brief, the Pentagon proposes:

Abolishing four Army Reserve and four National Guard divisions plus a net of 731 smaller units it considers out of date.

Placing most of the men from the abolished units into 11 new brigades new support units, and six high priority National Guard divisions. The last would be an elite first line of Army Reserve forces.

Retaining 17 other National Guard and six Army Reserve combat divisions at 50 per cent strength, and keeping 13 reserve divisions as training units.

The over-all aim: to provide the six National Guard divisions with 1,000 men each and enough equipment, training and support to get them ready for movement to a firing line within eight weeks of a call to active duty. There are 16 regular Army divisions.

The shakeup won't affect the over-all size of the reserve, which isn't up to the 700,000-man goal set by Congress. But higher standards for reservists may make it harder to reach that goal, Pentagon officials said.

The National Guard divisions which the Pentagon proposes abolishing—except for 150-man skeleton headquarters staffs—are the 34th Infantry of Iowa and Nebraska, the 35th of Kansas and Missouri, the 43rd of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont and the 51st of Florida and South Carolina.

The reserve divisions ordered broken up are the 79th Infantry of Pennsylvania, the 94th of Massachusetts, the 96th of Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Washington, and Nevada, and the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

More Money for Colony Than Budget

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council practiced a small economy with the Children's Colony budget today, but it went beyond Gov. Orval E. Faubus' recommendation on pay increases for key personnel at the state hospital.

The council cut $2,100 from Faubus' recommendation on salaries at the Children's Colony at Conway, leaving all salaries at present levels.

But it added amounts ranging from $1,000 to $1,500 to executive recommendations on pay for top officials at the State Hospital.

The hospital budget, as approved by the council, includes a $3,000 raise for Supt. George Jackson, who now makes $18,000 a year. Faubus requested $19,500 for Jackson.

The pay increases at the State hospital were made at the request of Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott, who double as chairman of the hospital board.

Hendrix was not present today, but he made his wishes known in a letter.

The council added a total of $16,950 to maximum salary allowances at the hospital, but it did not change the overall appropriation total from the governor's figure.

This means that if the hospital chooses to raise its top personnel, it will have to save the money somewhere else.

The hospital budget calls for $6,687,500 in 1963-64 and $7,087,500 in 1964-65.

The institution got $6,660,000 last year.

The colony budget was approved at $989,500 a year for each of the next two years. The institution got $724,000 last year. In addition to holding the line on salaries, the council eliminated a two-year appropriation of $67,000 for vocational rehabilitation from the colony budget. It agreed, however, that the colony could spend that amount for rehabilitation if it wants to take the money from its general maintenance funds.

Hendrix told the council in his letter that pay raises for doctors at the hospital were vitally needed because the state was having trouble hiring them at present salary levels.

Except in one instance, the Hendrix proposal sailed through without argument after Sen. Tori Allen of Brinkley praised Hendrix as "the man most responsible for bringing that institution from something we were ashamed of to near a model hospital."

The dispute centered around the salary of A. C. Yopp, hospital administrator. Saline County Rep. Virgil Fletcher said he could agree with all of Hendrix's suggestions except the one to boost Yopp's salary to $13,000 a year. Yopp now makes $12,000 and the governor recommended $12,500. Fletcher wanted to hold the salary to $12,000.

The council recommended $13,000 for Yopp after Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem described him as one of the most loyal state employees and "the man who keeps things running out there."

The council began today acting on a backlog of budget requests it has received during the past seven weeks. It hopes to clean these out and adjourn by Thursday afternoon.

Small boy: Yes, sir. They grow up and play golf.

Businessmen Argue for Expenses

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Mrs. John F. Kennedy pay for her own meal at White House dinners honoring foreign dignitaries or is this a legitimate business expense of the President of the United States?

This question was raised Tuesday by a St. Paul, Minn., businessman who challenged tax regulations proposed by the Internal Revenue Service to implement a new law designed to curb expense account abuses.

Testifying at public hearings on the suggested rules, Henry G. Foussard, president of the St. Paul area Chamber of Commerce, argued that wives attending business dinners have as much right to eat on the expense account as does the First Lady and wives of American ambassadors.

President Kennedy and U.S. ambassadors are given special funds to help finance official entertainment.

Wesley M. Chandler, a St. Paul Manufacturer of burial vaults predicted dire results if a new tax law is interpreted as prohibiting expense deductions for the cost of having wives attend business entertainment functions.

"I do not think it was the intention of our lawmakers to create a situation whereby they encouraged a sales representative to go out for the evening with his customer without their wives. This could be an aiding factor to the moral decay of our country," Chandler said.

Other witnesses challenged the

"I do not think it was the intention of our lawmakers to create a situation whereby they encouraged a sales representative to go out for the evening with his customer without their wives. This could be an aiding factor to the moral decay of our country," Chandler said.

Other witnesses challenged the detailed record-keeping that would be required by the regulations. They claimed the proposals would impose an impossible burden and discourage business patronage of hotels, restaurants and taverns, with adverse effects on the national economy and federal revenues.

This theme was repeated today by a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.

The NAM's general counsel, Lambert H. Miller, argued the proposed tax reporting provisions and curtail such business expenditures to a point of serious economic impact on many important sectors of the national economy.

Mortimer M. Caplin, IRS commissioner, opened the two days of hearings Tuesday by announcing that some of the record keeping proposals already have been discarded. He promised reconsideration of others drawing fire from some 60 witnesses who asked to be heard.

Someone Is Out to Get Stevenson

EDITOR'S NOTE—Suddenly a cloud of uncertainty has passed over Adlai E. Stevenson's future in the Kennedy administration. Some officials believe someone is "out to get Adlai." John M. Hightower, a Pulitzer Prize winner and a veteran AP diplomatic aff fair writer, analyzes the situation.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of Adlai E. Stevenson as President Kennedy's ambassador to the United Nations rested under a cloud of uncertainty today—a cloud which only Kennedy himself can dispel.

Unless the uncertainty is cleared up soon Stevenson's effectiveness in dealing with other diplomats in New York may be impaired.

His prestige and persuasiveness depend upon the faith foreign envoys place in the President's confidence in Stevenson. That seems, for the moment, to be central issue the President must now deal with.

Some well-placed officials expect that Kennedy will speak out publicly in support of Stevenson. Associates of the ambassador say privately that the President already has assured him of his full support and that Stevenson is planning to carry on as usual.

Unless Stevenson was convinced of Kennedy's complete backing, one informant said, "he would have resigned already."

In official quarters two other questions are coming into focus: How much tolerance is there at the White House for disagreement in policy making?

Should anonymous but apparently authoritative criticism of a high official be interpreted as evidence that his resignation would be welcomed by the President?

Stevenson's troubles began Sunday with the disclosure in New York of an article in this week's edition of the Saturday Evening Post. The article was written by Charles Bartlett, a reporter for the Chattanooga Times and a very close friend of Kennedy, and by Stewart Alsop, the Washington editor of the magazine who is reputed to have excellent contacts within the administration.

The point of the article which attracted immediate attention was a report that Stevenson had dissented from the general agreement within the executive committee of the National Security Council last October that naval blockade should be imposed around Cuba to block the flow of Soviet nuclear weapons into Cuba.

In a statement Monday the White House denied the report and declared that Stevenson had in fact "strongly supported" Kennedy's decision for the blockade.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger also said there was "absolutely no question" but that Stevenson would remain as U.N. ambassador.

Stevenson himself assailed the article as "inaccurate and grossly misrepresenting my views."

The ambassador conferred with the President and it was in that meeting on Monday that he reportedly received the President's personal assurance of support.

There is a strong impression among other officials, however, that someone is "out to get Adlai." These officials seem to have no doubt that Bartlett and Alsop obtained their information on the various opinions expressed in secret meetings of the NSC executive committee from persons the newsmen considered of be fully competent and highly authoritative informants.

Clarksville Favors Bonds

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Clarksville residents approved Monday a $73,500 bond issue of help locate a lumber industry in the city.

The vote was 771 for and 32 against.

The Area Redevelopment Administration has approved a $735,000 loan to Ozark Lumber Industries, the firm that would operate the plant. The bonds approved by the residents will be issued under Act 9 of 1960. No tax is involved.

W. E. Latner, who set up the company, said the firm would employ 150 persons in the plant and 150 in the forest initially. He said he hopes to employ 600 persons within a year.

MAN ON THE SKEWBALD MARE

By Nelson C. Nye

© Nelson C. Nye 1962
Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Rafe's brother,

his sister, and his father believe that Rafe is dead and refuse to recognize Rafe when he appears at their ranch.

X

Rafe looked from the sullen hate on Duke's face to the cool unwinking stare of the girl. This wasn't the spindle-legged, big-eyed child who'd run clean to Beckston's Four Corners after him that day he'd gone to join up with Job Stuart. She'd shot up and filled out, become a real looker... if a man did not peer too long or too deep.

He shook his head tiredly. What's to say when a man's own kin look him straight in the eye and don't know him from Adam?

"You still claiming you're Rafe?"

What difference does it make? Eleven years ain't a lifetime. I haven't changed that much."

Bender said, "Come over here, boy. Put your hand in mine and tell me you're Rafe."

"Are you crazy?" Duke shouted. Rafe's dead! We got a paper—

"Where is this precious paper?" Rafe said.

Dog-eared and worn so thin along the creases you could pretty near look through them, Bender got it from his vest and, leaning against the well rim, tried with hands that shook to spread it out as Rafe stepped closer.

There didn't seem much point in reading it once his glance had taken in the official seal. It was bonafide enough; a number of women had got remarried on the strength of papers like that. Gave a man a kind of scalp-twitching feeling to come so sharp against proof he was dead. Made him wonder if he wasn't better off to leave it.

Then he saw the covert exchange which passed between Duke and his sister; and he remembered how Joseph had been sold into Egypt. He said to his father, "Seein' how I've come back, you can pitch that away."

But Duke, rushing up, cried fierce through his teeth: "No you don't—I'll take care of that!" Before anyone realized what he was up to, grabbed the paper and defiantly crammed it into his pocket, backing hastily away.

Rafe, seeing his father's bewilderment, put a hand on his shoulder the good hand, of course, because there wasn't very much he could do with the other. Never mind, huh. Let him have it," he said. It's only a paper. I'm right here beside you."

Something smoothly hard, something rigid as hate, came down like a house on the top of Rafe's head. His legs seemed to float right up off the ground.

He came out in black waves across teeth sharp as needles from the depths of incalculable time. And always, it seemed, to hover and bump as though trapped under glass just short of awareness.

This was something he seemed to do over and over with the pain splintering clean up into his shoulders in bursts of recurrent, almost intolerable agony. More frequently then, with the pain subsiding, the invisible surface appeared to give just a little, to sway like thin ice when his weight came against it. He could imagine he saw light and, sometimes, a garble of voice sounds echoed faintly down through the shadowy cracks.

At last, in a lamplit room, he broke through, owlishly blinking against the unaccustomed radiance. Eyes swimming into focus he beheld in startled wonder a remembered halo of copper hair and, feeling bitterly put upon, clamped shut his eyes and dived inconspicuously back into the oblivion from which he had clawed.

Perhaps there was some good in it, but nothing was substantially altered next time he cautiously examined his whereabouts. He was still in Pike's house and Pike's filly was beside him. Also, like before, he was flat on his back in that dang female's room.

He cast back in his mind trying to think how he'd come here. He remembered Duke yelling: "Clamber 'im Jess!" and the world exploding like Harper's ferry, but the fog was too thick to fish anything else out.

Cracking open one eye he nervously took another squint. She was across the room now, sitting by the window with her head bent sewing. You would never think to look at her she could be so dang deceitful, so demure she seemed, so quiet and sweet; but there'd been nothing sweet about the way she'd poked that saved-off at him and Rafe wasn't about to forget it. Her old man, he reckoned, was probably gone to fetch the sheriff.

A sight welled out of Rafe in spite of himself, and Bunmy's head came up. Hi," she said, her whole look disapproving. I suppose what has happened is the story of your life. In again, out again. When are you going to learn to take care of yourself?"

He was so weak he couldn't seem, even, to work up a decent outrage. She put her sewing aside and, not waiting for an answer, got up and went off.

Wine, Dining Fight Seems the Roughest

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — It's grim enough dealing with Cuba or the Congo all day," said the diplomat, staring glumly at the milling throng of drinkers. "To fight your way through this every night is a bit too much."

With 10 member nations determined to wine and dine each other before the General Assembly session ends soon, the average delegate usually winds up his day being jostled about a smoke-filled room.

The envoy first must stand in line up to half an hour to pay his respects to the host ambassador. Then he is free to battle his way through the packed room in search of a cocktail tray. If the drink gives him courage to try the buffet, the guest attaches himself to another long line inching past the food tables. After receiving a plate of spiced beef or one of the volcanic curries that most U. N. parties feature, he has the final problem of finding a place to sit.

After a three-week round of U.N. receptions and banquets during his 1960 visit to the assembly, Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a newsman: "This life would make a stone sick."

Ten years ago the United Nations had fewer than 60 members. A delegate averaged a couple of small parties a week during the session. Now he often attends two or three affairs in one evening. By the time the assembly is over he has gone to more than 60 such functions and consumed enough spiced food and strong drink to turn the ordinary stomach to suede.

He faithfully makes the rounds because diplomatic etiquette requires it, and he hopes to pick up useful information chatting with fellow delegates.

The late Dag Hammarskjold avoided social functions, but he once described the U.N. reception as a fruitful field for quiet diplomacy. His successor, U. Thant, goes to parties when time permits and engages in informal exchanges he could never fit into his busy work schedule.

With the rapid growth of the United Nations, receptions have become so jammed that it is difficult for a jostled delegate to indulge in any quiet lobbying.

The growth of the world forum has posed an acute problem for the U. N. catering staff which handles parties at the East River headquarters.

"We can't accommodate more than 750 persons in the main dining room at one time," said Frank W. Reickert, who runs the network of bars and restaurants. Countries with huge guest lists often solve the problem by holding their functions in New York's big midtown hotels. Oil-rich Saudi Arabia gives a glittering reception each fall at a rooftop room.

Some of the wealthier African and Latin-American nations also hold lavish outside affairs.

The Soviet Union goes all-out each fall with its October revolution party. The Kremlin keeps a tight grip on the purse strings. After the first half-hour caviar, champagne and vodka are replaced by highballs and sandwiches.

Doctors advise walking for health, but we've yet to see a mailman who looked as if he could whip a truckdriver.
